

Breaking NEWS!

Homebuyers Tax Credit & its benefits to you

Based on the new tax bill passed November 2009

Courtesy of Betty@RealtyBetty.com

Betty Bertrang, REALTOR®

Prudential Lovejoy Realty 608-797-5977

The Mortgage Market View... ▾

Homebuyer Tax Credit Extended & Expanded!

A new Homebuyers Tax Credit bill was signed into law in November 2009. The bill extends the tax credit for first-time homebuyers (FTHBs), as well as opens it up to current homeowners who are looking to buy. And even if you aren't looking to purchase - please pass on this article to anyone you think might be in the market to do so. This is information that might benefit them greatly.

Tax Credit for First-Time Homebuyers

FTHBs (that is, people who have not owned a home within the last three years) may be eligible for the tax credit. The credit for FTHBs is 10% of the purchase price of the home, with a maximum available credit of $8,000. Single taxpayers and married couples filing a joint return may qualify for the full tax credit amount.

NEW -- Tax Credit for Current Homeowners

The tax credit program now gives those who already own a residence some additional reasons to move to a new home. This incentive comes in the form of a tax credit of up to $6,500 for qualified purchasers who have owned and occupied a primary residence for a period of five consecutive years during the last eight years. Single taxpayers and married couples filing a joint return may qualify for the full tax credit amount.

What are the New Deadlines?

In order to qualify for the credit, all contracts need to be in effect no later than April 30, 2010 and close no later than June 30, 2010. Those in the military do have some special extensions on the timelines available.

Breaking NEWS!

Homebuyers Tax Credit – & its benefits Page 2 of 2

What's So Great About a "Tax Credit"?

The benefit of a tax credit is that it's a dollar-for-dollar benefit, rather than a "tax deduction", or reduction in a tax liability that would only save you $1,000 to $1,500 when all was said and done. So, if a first-time homebuyer who qualified for the entire benefit were to owe $8,000 in income taxes and would qualify for a tax credit of $8,000, she would owe nothing.

Better still, the tax credit is refundable, which means the homebuyer can receive a check for the credit if he or she has little or no income tax liability. For example, if a first-time homebuyer is eligible for a tax credit of $8,000 but is liable for $4,000 in income tax, she can still receive a check for the remaining $4,000!

Higher Income Caps

The amount of income someone can earn and qualify for the full amount of the credit has been increased.

Single tax filers who earn up to $125,000 are eligible for the total credit amount. Those who earn more than this cap can receive a partial credit. However, single filers who earn $145,000 and above are ineligible.

Joint filers who earn up to $225,000 are eligible for the total credit amount. Those who earn more than this cap can receive a partial credit. However, joint filers who earn $245,000 and above are ineligible.

Maximum Purchase Price

Qualifying buyers may purchase a property with a maximum sales price of $800,000.

Remember, the new tax credit program includes a number of details and qualifications. Contact me today if you would like to know more.

As your full-time REALTOR® I look forward to working with you and for you to sell your present home and/or find your new home.

* Call me for a market value analysis of your home in the current market.

* Save time and headaches when I design a customized search just for you.

I will e-mail you immediately when new homes that fit your search come on the market and/or are reduced in price. I look forward to hearing from you!

Best Regards, Betty Bertrang

608-797-5977

Betty@RealtyBetty.com